See what's being said about Wolters Kluwer Daily Reporting Suite:

"WK is removing the 'licensing handcuffs' and stating unambiguously that lawyers are free to share content with colleagues and clients. Hallelujah! ...WK... focused more on customization of both content and delivery from the start than their competition have. They are clearly ahead of the entire market in embracing the need to allow lawyers to legally 'socialize' their content."

Jean O'Grady
Dewey B Strategic Blog

"It is obvious that Wolters Kluwer Law & Business has listened to their attorneys, law librarians, clients, and other legal information users, and worked to add extra value and convenience to a series of highly specialized daily current awareness titles for busy professionals. I can't wait to learn the next subjects to be added to the suite, which will be announced sometime next year."
